Anderson, 15, earned 21 merit badges and demonstrated responsibility by organizing renovations to the "Lifecourse" trail at the Winchester Hospital Family Medical Center. ## Shawsheen Commons, part duex

Manager says town's role: nil

by Jeff Nazzaro

One thing regarding the Shawsheen Commons housing development issue is certain: the board of selectmen has absolutely no authority in the matter.

Since there are no issues of code betrayal currently pending, the town has no real role to play in the matter, according to Town Manager Michael Caira.

"I don't believe the Town of Wilmington or the board of selectmen has any jurisdiction over whether a house gets painted or not," Caira stated before saying that true recourse for unsatisfied Shawsheen Commons residents could only through "the courts or some consumer protection agency."

Still, Chairman Michael McCoy did an admirable job at Monday evening's selectmen's meeting in hearing both sides of the continued debate between residents of the development still frustrated by unfixed problems and builders trying to resolve those same problems.

At a selectmen's meeting last December, Shawsheen Commons resident Helen Herman represented herself and other fed-up residents of the development in seeking the help of the board of selectmen in getting local developer Jay Tighe to fix problems - many structural - which existed largely before Tighe was involved with the development.

At that meeting, chaired by Selectman Chester Bruce, it was agreed that problems within the development would be fixed by the end of May of this year. Selectman Gerald Duggan volunteered at that time to serve as intermediary between residents and developers.

But when the May deadline arrived, many problems remained unresolved. To date the exact amount of problems existing in December, which ones the developers are responsible for, how many of those problems have been fixed since December, and those remaining to be fixed have not been agreed upon.

As an example, Ling Tat Chu, a two-year resident of Pouliot Place, had three items on a punch list she submitted to Duggan. Included on that list was a faulty electrical outlet. In actuality, the outlet worked, but only when activated by a switch, a fact of which Ling was unaware - problem solved.

However, a more serious problem exists for Ling, that of a cracked foundation.

At least two other residents - Herman and Janet O'Connor - have expressed concerns over similar structural problems. While Herman has been outspoken over her problem, O'Connor has not.

But Monday night her frustration showed, especially after Tighe insisted to the board that "there aren't any structural problems [at Shawsheen Commons] - absolutely none."

Selectman Diane Allan rose to O'Connor's defense, saying O'Connor's basement at one time was under three feet of water, a figure Tighe amended to "3-4 inches."

Allan said the house should never have been built with a sump pump and concluded by stating emphatically: "This is a problem. Trust me."

In the end, McCoy was compelled to issue a 7-10 day period in which O'Connor's problem should be resolved. Beyond that, he said the developers are "making an honest effort to what they can" and that they should continue working towards resolving all problems at the development.

Everyone agreed the situation has improved since December, and especially since Managing General Partner John Bresnahan came on the scene.

Bresnahan said Monday that as long as problems remain, payment for the homes is being held. Given that and the fact he would like to sell more homes in the development, it is clear Bresnahan has a vested interest in seeing Shawsheen Commons' problems resolved.

But Herman, who said in one instance that Bresnahan went "above and beyond" in painting trim in her home not covered by warranty, and who said she was only before the board to "follow-up on business" that was begun with selectmen in December, still evoked ire from Tighe.

"She's just doing this for attention," Tighe said of Herman. "We could go on and on and nothing will ever satisfy her."

Sewer rates could go down

by Jeff Nazzaro

Wilmington's 700 Massachusetts Water Resources Authority (MWRA) customers could receive a 3.9 percent sewer rate decrease spread over the next three years if a rate methodology voted last Thursday by the MWRA Advisory Board is approved later this year by the State Legislature.

The Advisory Board, which uses a vote weighted according to the population of each represented community, voted 67.16 percent in favor of a methodology based on both metered flow and population.

Wilmington, which contributes the lowest number of customers of all MWRA municipalities, favors a methodology based solely on metered wastewater flow.

The new methodology would do just that for assessing all operation and maintenance costs, but would factor population in with flow in determining capital costs.

According to Assistant Town Manager Jeffrey Hull, the new methodology, if approved, would be implemented for total capital costs as follows:

- Two-eighths would be allocated based on flow.

- Three-eighths would be allocated based upon each community's contributing population as a percentage of the total sewer system's contributing population.

- Three-eighths would be allocated based upon the community's census population as a percentage of the total census population in the MWRA sewer district.

But while these figures look as if they would provide some relief to Wilmington's MWRA patrons, Selectman Diane Allan still holds several concerns, most notably over the MWRA-generated numbers which cite Wilmington's sewage flow as being 74.5 percent groundwater that has infiltrated the system.

"I totally disagree with that number," Allan, who serves as the board of selectmen's MWRA Advisory Board liaison said. "They're totally off-the-wall with that."

By contrast, the City of Boston, which maintains a sewer system significantly older than Wilmington's 15-year-old set-up, was said to have approximately 45 percent infiltration, according to Allan.

Allan said the 74.5 percent figure has made her "suspect of all the other numbers [the MWRA] is using," namely those that have resulted in Wilmington's projected assessment fluctuating in recent weeks.

"The numbers seem to be changing all the time, and not in Wilmington's favor," Allan stated. "I don't feel comfortable with these numbers that are being generated for Wilmington."

Previously, the MWRA had generated figures showing a 5.9 decrease for Wilmington, according to Allan. That number has now changed to 3.9 percent.

Hull says that because the fiscal year 1995 budget came up short, the FY 96 version was lowered, causing lower decreases in assessments.

As far as the 74.5 percent infiltration figure, Allan is seeking the aid of Wilmington Board of Water and Sewer Commissioners engineers in developing separate numbers for the town through an infiltration and inflow study to challenge the MWRA's calculations.

"There is no accuracy or validity in their numbers," Allan said.

With a portion of MWRA assessments still based on population, Allan feels one way to decrease sewer assessments is to spread them out over more than 600 homes and 100 businesses in town. However, the more people hear about outrageous sewer bills, the less inclined they are to join the system, she said.

Another possibility for rate relief lies in the class-action law suit against the MWRA by the Town of Weymouth, which has received financial support from several communities, including Wilmington. According to Allan the suit should be moving beyond its current fact-finding sometime in the near future.

But for now, the only numbers that really matter to Allan are the ones appearing on the sewer bills of Wilmington's MWRA customers.

"Someone's got to look out for them," Allan said. "I don't think they got such a great deal."

North principal leaving

by Jeff Nazzaro

After seven years as an administrator in the Wilmington Public School System, including the last five as principal of the North Intermediate School, Michael Tikonoff is leaving to accept a position as a middle school principal in the Town of Pepperell.

"I'm looking for new and different professional opportunities," Tikonoff said, while expressing a debt of gratitude to the town and the school system.

"This is where I got my start as an administrator, and I'm grateful.

"I'd like to extend my thanks to all the wonderful people I've had a chance to work with - administrators and teachers.

"Thank you to all the very supportive parents I've worked with, and finally, to all the children I've had a chance to work with and watched grow."

Mopeds are not toys

Motorized bicycles, better known as MOPEDS, can be dangerous toys in the hands of underage operators, cautions the Wilmington Police Department.

The police department wishes to make parents aware of the regulations governing the use of MOPEDS and also urge them not to purchase them for children to play with.

To operate a MOPED:

- The driver must be at least 16 years of age.
- The operator must possess a driver's license or valid learner's permit.
- The driver must not exceed 25 miles per hour.
- The operator and any passenger must both wear approved helmets.
- MOPED operators must follow

all traffic rules and regulations set for automobiles, except - MOPEDS drivers may pass other traffic on the right and may signal turns with either hand.

Additionally, MOPEDS are required to be registered annually and operators are subject to citations for violations. Fines for first offenses amount to $25.

Chief Stewart took the microphone to present a citation to the Donato family on Tuesday morning in recognition of their efforts to promote bicycle safety and helmet usage. The occasion was the kick-off of a new campaign to get youngsters in Wilmington to wear their helmets, by giving them ice cream from D'Angelo / Chips.

Ice cream reward for bike safety

The Wilmington Police will be on the lookout for kids on bikes this summer. They will be stopping many of them, too. But the kids won't mind at all, because they will be getting certificates good for free ice cream at D'Angelos / Chips in the Wilmington Plaza. There is one hitch, the kids must be wearing their bicycle helmets!

Chief Stewart, D'Angelo / Chips and the Donato family kicked off the program Tuesday morning at a press conference at the store in front of the camera from WCTV.

Michael Donato made headlines last year by doing the wrong thing right. He rode his bike into the street, right in front a passing car. But he survived because he was wearing a bicycle helmet. Since then his family has been on a campaign to promote bike safety and the use of helmets.

They have worked with the Kiwanis on their bike safety program, petitioned Governor Weld (successfully) appeared on TV and visited every school in the area. Now they're (indirectly) in the ice cream business.

The certificates are good until August 31st but they shouldn't take that long to redeem. At the close of the session at the store Chief Stewart admonished Ms LaFond not to give any free ice cream to his officers, unless they had their helmets on.

Tech students head for National Skill Olympics

Students from Shawsheen Tech will represent Massachusetts in 10 categories at the 30th Annual National Leadership Conference and Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) U.S. Skill Olympics June 27 to July 1 in Kansas City, Mo. The National Skill Olympics brings together 10,000 competitors, advisors, voting delegates and support staff from secondary and post-secondary institutions across the country. Students compete in 54 categories, including dozens of technical areas in practical, hands on contests and leadership skills.

Shawsheen students qualified for national competition by winning first place medals at the State Skill Olympics sponsored by VICA in April. Shawsheen gold medal winners were: Shawn Mahoney of Wilmington, advertising design; Christopher Nawossa of Tewksbury, air conditioning and refrigeration; Joseph Bardsley of Billerica, diesel mechanics; Holly Canals of Burlington, and Shauna Napoli, Andrew Geddry, and Jessica Borden of Tewksbury, Health Occupations Knowledge Bowl; David Walsh, machine drafting; Dave Sullivan of Wilmington, promotional bulletin board display; and Brian West of Billerica, welding. Shanna Welch, who was elected to state VICA officer in April, will attend as a voting delegate.

Students will be accompanied by advisors from their vocational technical programs, as well as Shawsheen VICA chapter advisors Ethel Leary and Dennis Solomon. Leary is doubly excited. Students from the Shawsheen Technical Illustration/Commercial Design course she teaches are also competing.

Health Bowl

The Health Knowledge Bowl, Shawsheen's contribution to the national contest for the past six years and medal winners for five, has been practicing twice a week, says instructor Barbara Ahern. "It's a new team, but a good one," she said. "Do we have a chance for placement? Yes!!"

This contest pits state teams, rather than individuals, against one another in a test where the questions are sent in advance. Because the knowledge bowl is akin to a game show format, students bid points on categories of questions. "You have to have a strategy, know your material, and be able to work as a team," she said.

Although fund raising and other school support has yielded sufficient funds for this year's contenders, Leary said donations are always welcome and can be used as seed money for next year. "Perhaps some alumni would like to sponsor us," she suggested. Checks made out to Shawsheen VICA can be sent to the school.

It's YOUR Money

BY JOYCE BRISBOIS

GETTING AT RETIREMENT MONEY

Once you reach the age of 59 1/2, you can take money out of your IRA or Keogh account without penalty. By 70 1/2, you must take out a certain amount, related to life-expectancy tables, or face even worse penalties.

What happens, though, if there are several different accounts? Where should the distribution come from? With IRA money, it's easiest to take money out of the account that's paying the least. If your IRAs were all funded with tax-deductible contributions, the distribution is fully taxable. If you have made non-deductible contributions, a proportionate fraction of every distribution - whatever account it comes from - will be tax-free.

Keogh funds that are divided into profit sharing and money purchase plans cannot be aggregated. It is necessary to make withdrawals proportionately from each plan. However, if each plan is invested in several different accounts, the entire distribution can be taken from any of those accounts if that is more advantageous.

We'll help you follow the rules. Get the answers to your retirement account questions at Joyce K. Brisbois, C.P.A.

Tewksbury history

Tewksbury vs. the British

When the 56 delegates to the Second Continental Congress adopted the Declaration of Independence in Philadelphia on July 4, 1776, the event was neither the beginning nor the end of the process through which the 13 colonies became independent of the British government.

For the Massachusetts colonists, the signing of the Declaration was part of the inevitable progression that began with the Boston Massacre in 1770. The 'massacre' inflamed the patriots, and aroused anger against the British military's presence in the city. The Boston Tea Party on Dec. 16, 1773, was followed by the British Parliament's swift passage of four pieces of legislation designed to punish the colonists in Massachusetts. Known as the Intolerable Acts, these measures served instead to create a unified resistance to British rule.

Patriots Samuel Adams and James Otis persuaded Boston to establish a Committee of Correspondence in November, 1772, in order to send a statement of rights and grievances to the 260 towns in the colony. Within three months, more than 80 towns had established their own committees. These committees disseminated both information and propaganda, and provided a framework for the exchange of ideas.

Tewksbury was among the first group of towns that formed committees. On February 8, 1773, Tewksbury voters created the town's first Committee of Correspondence, and named Ezra Kendall, Aaron Beard, John Needham, Nathaniel Heywood and David Trull to serve on it.

In October, 1774, Jonathan Brown served as delegate to a provincial meeting in Concord. Six months later, on April 19, 1775, Tewksbury's two companies of militia as well as the town's company of minutemen marched to Lexington and Concord. Fiery rhetoric had been exchanged, at least temporarily, for gunfire.

A month later, Ezra Kendall was chosen to represent Tewksbury at a provincial congress at Watertown. According to local historian Edward W. Pride, 'no convention or political assembly lacked a delegate from Tewksbury. Many of these were attended when life might be forfeited for taking part in the proceedings.'

Boston was the hub of patriotic fervor. Incendiary rhetoric and eloquent essays were used to spread the appeal for resistance and independence. Tewksbury, on the route between Boston and the northern colonies, boasted taverns and inns for weary travelers. Brown's Tavern and the Half-way House (Hardy Homestead) were surely the scene of many heated debates as discontent spread.

In March 1776, Tewksbury established a Committee of Correspondence, Inspection and Safety. Nathaniel Clark Jr., Nathaniel Heywood, Deacon Jacob Shed, and William Brown were appointed to this committee. Two months later, the committee was enlarged by the addition of Lt. John Flint, John French Jr. and Benjamin Burt. During the war, Committees of Safety served to stabilize local governments in the absence of a unified central government.

During the late colonial period, Tewksbury was a village of approximately 800 settlers. Farming and lumbering provided the community's economic base. Yet these farmers understood the magnitude of the task confronting them and did not shrink from duty. Decisions were made within the framework of town meetings, often held only days apart. Militia companies had to be authorized, clothed, fed, and equipped. When the Continental Army was formed, the process was repeated. The town purchased and stored gunpowder, weapons and ammunition. Stipends were paid to the widows of soldiers. Colonists who had decried the imposition of rules and regulations without representation were eager to try their hand at participatory government.

In Tewksbury, as in towns throughout all 13 colonies, the concept of independence was sobering. Over the next eight years of the military conflict, more than 100 men from Tewksbury would take up arms to defend the freedoms that had been promulgated by the many meetings, congresses, assemblies, and conventions. These gatherings had hammered out the framework for a new form of government.

Liberty and independence were won at a terrible price of sacrifice and hardship. Tewksbury's own contributions to the war effort are an example of similar efforts from many New England towns and villages. It is a record we can be proud of.

Cameron McLeod earns Bachelor's degree at Cornell

Cameron S. McLeod of Tewksbury was awarded the Bachelor of Science degree, with Distinction, by Cornell University at its 126th commencement held May 29.

Cam, who is the son of Thomas and Kathleen McLeod, majored in electrical engineering. The 1990 graduate of Tewksbury Memorial High School was a member of the Cornell Rugby Club, serving as its captain during his senior year. He was inducted into Phi Kappa Phi, Tau Beta Pi, and Golden Key National Honor Societies.

He will be joining Ford Motor Company's Electronics Division in Dearborn, MI, in July, where he will be working in research and development.

During the Tewksbury Rotary Club's installation of officers Friday night, Joel Deputat's 40th birthday (July 15) was observed. According to club tradition, Joel got to choose how "Happy Birthday" should be sung, and he decided to have ladyfriend Deborah Bresette deliver the tune from his lap.

Tewksbury senior topics

"An Evening on the Merrimack" is being sponsored by the Lowell Kiwanis Club, the Regatta Festival Committee and the Lowell National Historical Park for Tewksbury Senior Citizens Tuesday, July 5. Tickets donations for the event will be $1 to help defray costs. Those interested should call the Senior Center at 640-4480 or drop in to sign up. There are 60 tickets available.

Senior citizens who have never gone to this event will have first priority. Repeat travelers will be drawn by lottery Friday afternoon. Due to availability of tickets, it was impossible to post this event earlier. Those interested are urged to call the Senior Center today.

As noted last week, Officer Jim Luz spoke at the Senior Center on safety and crime issues. Some helpful tips were: To have your license number changed from your Social Security number to another number which will be issued by the Registry of Motor Vehicles for a small fee; never give your Social Security number or any other information to someone who is soliciting; to secure your windows at home with a simple device such as a nail to prevent unwanted entry; to arrange for someone to look after your home when you are traveling on vacation; to lock your car when shopping or visiting; when shopping or traveling, wear a waist fanny pack and have the contents of the pack at the front of your body.

When driving, always keep a good distance between your vehicle and the one in front of you - do not tailgate. As we grow older, our reflex time becomes slower.

At a stop sign, always remember that the cars in the other flow of traffic have the right of way. Be sure it is clear when crossing.

Do not stop to help strangers. Instead, stop at the nearest telephone and inform the authorities that there is someone in need of help on the highway or street.

Officer Luz also noted that one may call the police department and arrange for him to go to one's home to help with home safety suggestions.

Many thanks are extended to all those who helped with the surplus food distribution this past Wednesday. Thanks also to all participants for their cooperation.

Happy Fourth of July is wished to all. A reminder that the Town's Patriotic Activities Committee has planned a great day of events at Livingston Field on the Fourth of July.

One such event will be the softball game between the senior citizens and the Statesmen taking place at 6 p.m. at Memorial Field. Check the other events which will be listed elsewhere in the news. Seniors are reminded that dance classes have resumed Thursday mornings.

Those people traveling to the Amesbury Playhouse to see "Broadway Babes" July 10 are reminded that payments and meal choices must be in by July 6. Other trip payment due dates are as follows: Provincetown cruise of July 14, due by July 8; Frontier Follies/Cape Cod trip of July 18 due by July 12; and Rockingham Park trip of July 28 due by July 21.

Trips coming in August include Yoken's and the Music Man at Hampton Playhouse, Aug. 5; Martha's Vineyard August 18; and Quincy Market "Charlie Prose Performance" August 29. For more information, call the Senior Center.

Seniors are reminded that the Senior Center has central air conditioning and is quite comfortable during the hot and humid weather.

Memories of Al Marfleet

by Capt. Larz Neilson
A few words should be said about Al Marfleet, lately a Lieutenant Commander, U.S. Navy. Al passed his final muster on June 22nd, when he was assigned to a different duty, one not in this world.

As a boy he lived in the house in which he passed that final muster. He became friendly with the Fred Roberts family on Burlington venue, and would ride to Sunday School and church every Sunday in the Roberts' car. Fred Roberts was probably the richest person in Wilmington, and it was Al, among the neighbors, who was a frequent visitor to that home.

Al mentioned, at sometime or other how Fred Roberts had given the organ to the Methodist Church and how Alice Roberts had purchased a small home, and had it moved onto church property, as a home for the pastor and his family.

This writer met him about 1925-6, when he joined Troop One, Wilmington Boy Scouts. The only troop in Wilmington, it was meeting in the old West School, in a period of time when no classes were being held there. The school house is still to be seen, on Shawsheen Avenue, opposite Aldrich Road.

Lena M. Eames (Mrs. Alden N. Eames) was a teacher in that school, during periods in which it was operating. That lady, born in Maine, had lived in Wilmington starting about 1899, and had been the first teacher, it is to be believed, in the old South School, now headquarters for a local group of Marines.

The Scoutmaster of Troop One was Hubert E. Cann, a veteran of the Canadian Army in World War One. Mr. Cann lived on Grove Avenue, somewhere about Number 142, and had served in Vladivostok, Siberia, as a motorcycle messenger.

That Boy Scout Troop would, of course, take part in the annual Memorial Day Parade in Wilmington, and Mr. Cann got a kick out of the fact that he was the only person not in an American uniform. He wore his Canadian uniform.

Not much is remembered about Al as a Boy Scout.

But when this writer was second mate on the SS Willboro, about 1936, he was spotted by Al, a second class electrician in the US Navy, as the Willboro entered the harbor of Portland, Oregon. There followed a meeting which lasted about 45 minutes, on board the 10,000 ton class cruiser on which Al was serving.

Al served as a deck officer in the Navy in World War II. This writer did not see him, but the two men were near each other on infrequent occasions, in the Mediterranean.

The writer commanded a munition ship, the Liberty Ship Daniel Boone in the spring of 1943, when Al, a Lieutenant, was busy preparing a fleet of small vessels for the invasion of Sicily, which occurred in June of that year. Al was in the Algerian port of Beni-Saf, a few miles westerly of Oran at the time the Daniel Boone visited that port. The two men did not meet at that time. Al did his part in the invasion of Sicily. The Daniel Book was then in the Indian Ocean.

Al stayed in the Med, as it was called, in command of a patrol vessel. He was present, on the "outskirts" when the Italian Navy surrendered and was sent to Malta, an event of which the German forces did not approve. Al told this writer of what he saw, which wasn't much.

The Island of Corsica was one of the areas he patrolled. This writer made several voyages to that island, but never met Al. It was after the war that we were able to talk things over.

And now Al is serving under a different command.

Letters to the editor

Dear Larz:

Here's a list of things that tick me off:
No right turn on red from Church Street.
Stop sign at Lowell and Main.
Traffic light at Concord and Middlesex.
No. Wilmington train gates.
Big, empty car lots.
Sales tax on loam
Paying the 2nd sales tax on a used car.

Foul language on television.
Ten term reps.
The supreme authority of a badge.
Pumpkin thieves.
Loose dogs.
Bleeding hearts that approve the death penalty.
No turn signals on cars.
Single digit salute.
Slow drivers in high speed lanes.
Weavers on the road.
Just a phew...add some yer own!
G.F. Quinn

Dear Larz:

Mr. McCoy continues to defame a residents reputation who questioned the Chairman's actions when he attempted to exclude Selectwoman Diane Allan from a meeting with the MBTA over the location of a railroad station in Wilmington.

He accused me of being a violent person and I responded. He continues his campaign by trying to silence a person who questions his motives by his letter in the Town Crier on June 15, 1994.

He now tries to further degrade me by inferring I am not an "intelligent man."

I will let that judgment rest with the residents of Wilmington.

Mr. McCoy, is it time the community became aware of your deceitful attempt to improperly influence a vote of the Board of Selectmen so you and your's may benefit? Is it time the hidden agenda and secret meetings you scheduled with another elected official and myself become public?

The agenda follows:

1. A meeting at your restaurant to discuss my support of you obtaining a liquor license. Present were you, Selectman Bruce and myself. My answer to you was "If the Chief of Police approved your request, then I would have no problem with voting for it."

2. A meeting at Selectman Bruce's house regarding the same subject. Present were you, Selectman Bruce and myself.

3. A meeting held at Piccadilly Pub in Tewksbury, regarding the same subject. Present were you, Selectman Bruce and myself.

4. A meeting held at my house.

Present were you and myself.

As a result of the above meetings and before the election, I made sure that I talked to the Chief of Police, and made him aware of this issue.

I hope that both Selectman Bruce and you, Selectman McCoy know that you were conspiring to influence a vote from a candidate should he be elected to the board of selectmen. It is my opinion that with the vast experience that I have accumulated in my 58 years, this would be illegal.

You stated in your last letter to the editor, Town Crier, June 15, 1994 "that you are serving on the board of selectmen." I wonder if State Representative Jim Miceli was not standing at the front door of the Town Hall, asking all of his friends to vote for you, if you would in fact be a selectman today?

Before writing this letter, I visited Police Chief Stewart at the Wilmington Police Station on Thursday, June 16 at approximately 4 p.m. and discussed this issue again. He had no problem recalling our first discussion that "took place before the election regarding Selectman McCoy's liquor license."

Isn't it time that the voting public understands that when you vote for elected officials who own businesses in the community, that these people vote on issues to protect themselves first?

Is your anger toward me a result of my "full rejection" of your deceitful overtures at these secret meetings you requested?

Tony Capuano
P.S. If Mr. McCoy would like to debate me on WCTV he simply needs to name the date.

250 attend art exhibit

The 14th annual art exhibition by the Wilmington Council for the Arts held this past weekend at the Arts Center was "even better than all the beautiful ones that have gone before" according to more than a few participants attending the event.

More than 250 persons were rewarded by their visit to the exhibition which was dedicated to Mary Ormer, a faithful member of the council who died recently.

Jane Crane won the John D. Brooks award for her watercolor entitled "My Grandfather's Farm." This recognition is given to the Wilmington artist who has shown the most promise and progress in his/her work.

In photography Michael Hubley won first prize for his "Doe Mesa Sunset." Barrett S. Bacall received second prize; Maryellen Cole, third; and a merit award for her photo of "Gosling Pair."

In oils/acrylics, Leda Sullivan won first prize for her "Girl in Pink." Mrs. Sullivan also won first prize in last year's exhibition. It might be noted that Mrs. Sullivan's paintings are always sold before the conclusion of the show. Second prize went to Stephen S. Greco and third to Leona Bombard. A merit award was given to Philip A. MacKencie, Jr. and most popular vote was awarded to Elaine Bradley.

In watercolor Elaine Bradley won first place for her "Summer Memory" and second prize for her untitled painting. Third prize went to Luke Volpe and a merit award to Gertrude Donovan.

His work has been exhibited at the Todd Gallery, the Michael Thompson Gallery in San Francisco and other important galleries in Connecticut and California. He is a member of the Copley Society, Boston and other art associations. Mr. St. George is the host of the TV show "Impressions."

Joann Baker was at the top of her graduating class at the Rhode Island School of Photography and an award winning member of the Rhode Island Professional Photographers in 1990. (Best of Show and Court of Honor). She extends her considerable talents, expertise and support to photography classes in the form of a presentation of photography. The professional hanging of the exhibition was done by David Maison (new chairman of the Arts Council) and by member Bruce Jope and Joe Maison, brother of David. The Council is grateful to them for their long, arduous task. The council first prize was awarded to Robyn Caseley for her watercolor entitled "Shadows." Second place was awarded to Jane Crane; third to Ruth Camber and a merit award was given to Ruth Myers Laidler.

Three distinguished artists judged the exhibition:
Joan Colt Hooper of Marblehead has held nine one artist shows and acquired numerous awards. Whether at her home in Marblehead or on the Bahamian Island of Exuma, her interest in the sea inspires her to portray its luminescence in oil. She is an alumna of Tufts University and a member of many art associations as well as a Copley Artist in the Copley Society of Boston.

10 years ago

The July 4, 1984 edition of the Town Crier of Wilmington noted that:

The cupolo was the last part to fall as a bulldozer demolished the Mildred Rogers School at Silver Lake. The school, built in the late 1930s was named for a teacher who died in the Coconut Grove fire in 1942. It was most recently used by the Wilmington Spotlighters.

Funding for the Fourth of July celebration was a volunteer effort. The committee offered residents days and days of fun and entertainment at no cost to the town.

The School Committee voted to hire Paul Fleming, assistant principal of Plymouth-Carver Regional High School as WHS principal, to fill the position vacated 16 months before by Dr. George Eisenberg.

Three Wilmington students, James McFayden, Stephen Revelas and Brian Wetzler were among the 600 chosen to attend a science workshop at Annapolis Naval Academy.

Dear Larz,

It's bad enough when a woman has to lose a breast, or in some cases lose both. Also, having to cope with everything that goes along with it such as chemotherapy, radiation, dealing with their emotions and fears, etc., etc. But when it comes time for one to have to purchase a mastectomy bra, or a special bathing suit, all of a suddenly, they find they can't purchase these items in the stores they would normally shop in.

What happens now? They have to visit a specialty shop that sells such items. The prices are outrageous and it is sickening to think of how they are taking advantage of thousands of women who feel as though they have no choice because this is all new to them.

Something should be done about this! Why can't there be a section in every large well known department store for such items? If that's not possible, then it's about time these specialty shops start lowering their prices or making them comparable to a regular bra or bathing suit.

Josephine Donahue,
Peabody

Dear Larz,

A heartfelt thank you.

A heartfelt thank you has been extended to the Tewksbury Police and Fire Departments, the Lowell General Hospital ALS Unit, the Wilmington Fire Department, the Whipple Road neighbors, the Medflight Airlift Ambulance Service, the emergency room and ICU staffs of Lowell General Hospital, the emergency room and ICU staffs of Boston City Hospital and all the other individuals who, without a second thought, stopped to help our sons.

Without their quick response and exceptional care, our sons may not be with us today.

A sincere thank you from the bottom of our hearts!

The Araujo Family, the Carfagno Family and the Thompson Family, of Tewksbury

House proposes cost of living increase for retirees

Representative James R. Miceli (D-Tewksbury/Wilmington) has announced that the recently passed House Budget proposal for FY '95 contains a three percent cost of living adjustment for state, county and municipal retirees.

"I am glad to see these retirees receive a COLA increase. This measure is aimed at helping thousands of retirees and their families in making ends meet," Miceli said.

The last time these former retirees received a COLA was 1992 after a gubernatorial veto was overridden by the Legislature. Through the efforts of senior advocates in the House, this COLA was accompanied by an increase in the Council on Aging's budget and an increase in home care services of over $2,000,000.

The proposal is now in the Senate, which is expected to begin its budget deliberations this week.

T.D. Waffle

283 Old Main St., Tewksbury
 (508) 640-9610

T. D. Waffle... where "Breakfast is served all day with More!" And wait 'til you see the breakfasts! Their extensive menu includes waffles, eggs (cooked any style), omelettes, morning sandwiches, pancakes & French toast, and side orders. Try their "Fresh Fruit Waffle" with banana, kiwi, cantaloupe & strawberries, for $4.75. If you're really hungry, there's the "Tewksbury Redmen" - 3 eggs with sirloin tips and waffle - for $6.50.

As for the "More"... T. D. Waffle also offers lunch and dinner. For lunch, choose from soup, salads, and sandwiches. Dinners will bring back memories of home cooking - ziti, lasagna, roast beef or turkey dinner, ham & scalloped potatoes, liver & onions, meat loaf, and include daily specials - corned beef and cabbage on Monday, barbecued sirloin tips, fresh fish or fish and chips on Friday.

It's been only two years since owners Tom Seto ("T") and Dave Donovan ("D") opened T. D. Waffle. It's a family restaurant with a casual and comfortable atmosphere, and courteous, friendly service. Orders are prepared before you on an open grill, and are made with only the freshest ingredients. Even the orange juice comes from a "fresh squeezed OJ" machine. This waffle house is now selling 400-500 waffles each day. In fact, business has been so good that they have plans to open a second restaurant in Burlington.

T. D. Waffle is open Sunday-Thursday: 5:30am to 9pm; and Friday & Saturday: 5:30am to 10pm. They offer a senior citizen meal discount and a children's menu. Their full menu is available for take-out (call (508) 640-9619 or 640-0159 in advance). They're conveniently located at 283 Old Main Street, Tewksbury (off Route 495 on Route 38 East).

Sanda Equipment Sales • 222 Andover St., Wilmington • (508) 694-9920

Being a dealer for a major manufacturer can be more fun than one might think. Sandy Ford is a John Deere dealer. He sells and lawn tractors, lawn mowers and the necessary accessories and fun. It's a family business, his wife Aurora and four children (ages 12, 9, 6 and 5) all have a part in it. The children love to wash and park the riding tractors outside for display. The tractor that "needs" the most driving always seems to go first.

Sandy has been amazed a few times by the company that backs him. A few weeks ago a customer came in looking for a part for a 25 year old Deere. Sandy looked it up and "By gosh - it was there!" "We had it shipped in overnight and the machine was running the next day!" When he asked if it was time for a new machine the customer replied, "Nope, it's still workin' fine."

"It's the service," Sandy says. "Making people happy about owning a John Deere." All the products from John Deere carry a 2 year warranty and Sandy insisted on a 2 year warranty from every manufacturer of the side line items he carries. The gas powered line trimmer, the chipper, or any other machine is covered for 2 years! He also boasts of the 30 day money back policy. If you're not satisfied with your John Deere, bring it back for a refund or replacement. No hassle.

Just for fun they carry toys. Model tractors and trucks and all. Some your kids can ride and some that need a push and some you won't let them touch. John Deere makes a "Precision Classics" line of detailed antique replicas which sell for $150.00 new. Collectors snatch them up fast. The only one Sandy has in stock right now is a 1936 Model A John Riding a Deere are (l to r) Aurora Ford, Sandy Ford (standing), chief mechanic Rodel Olvido and mechanic Dan Robbins.

Deere with a six row harrow attached.

You've heard the ads on TV and radio about "Deere Season." Well, that's over now and it's time for service on your Deere. Free pick-up and delivery in Tewksbury and Wilmington makes it easy to keep your Deere in top shape. Call for prompt courteous service: (508) 694-9920

MEXICO - LAND OF MANY SUNS

Every season brings new reasons to visit Mexico, a land of many suns.

Near the capital city, the FLOATING GARDENS of XOCHIMILCO have been restored to their original beauty. While marachis serenade, you'll be ferried in flower-bedecked boats along canals dating back to Aztec times - a living link to our ancient past.

At resorts from LOS CABOS to CANCUN, hand-some new golf courses and full service marinas are debuting, adding more opportunities for world class fishing, watersports and golf. ACAPULCO'S new DIAMANTE area now sparkles with luxurious hotels.

They're polishing up their traditional assets, too. For example, excavations have unveiled many ancient temples and palaces at EL TAJIN near the GULF COAST, while the remodeled museum at the grand pyramids of TEOTIHUACAN opened last year with artifacts never before seen. In GUADALAJARA, the lovely AQUA AZUL PARK has been refurbished. Tours that highlight the rich ecological inheritance - from the flamingos of the YUCATAN to the thousands of monarch butterflies that winter in MORELIA - are expanding every year.

So remember that today when you visit MEXICO, you can experience its amazing diversity, from the colonial cities of the heartland to the MAYA temples and white beaches of the YUCATAN. Tours combining their beach resorts, colonial treasures, archeological sites and natural wonders are easier to arrange than ever before.

We here at ALL AROUND TRAVEL, STATION SQUARE 283 Jefferson Rd., N. Wilmington, (REAR OF PARKING LOT) hope you will allow us to help guide and plan your next trip around MEXICO'S many suns. CALL: 658-2313. OFFICE HRS. 9-5 Mon-Fri. AND ANYTIME by appointment.

Marie Nigrelli (center, seated) ended 15 years of employment with Scully Signal Co., on Industrial Way, by pausing to have her picture taken surrounded by her friends and co-workers.

Surprise retirement party after second career

Marie Nigrelli of Dorothy Avenue, Wilmington was the surprised guest of honor at a retirement testimonial held last week at Scully Signal Co. on Industrial Way.

Mrs. Nigrelli completed 15 years of employment with Scully on Friday, June 24.

At the age when most people are either retired or thinking seriously about it, and after nearly 40 years as a homemaker, Mrs. Nigrelli decided she would like to go to work. Friends and family were doubtful whether she could find employment, or keep it if she did, but she was undaunted, and vowed to start filling out applications.

With an apparent lack of discrimination, officials at Scully processed her application and concluded that she would make a fine employee. They were correct. Mrs. Nigrelli worked the assembly line for more than 15 loyal, dedicated years.

Her son John wagered, "Ma, if you last one year, I'll give you $25. She did and he did, but John paid his wager with 2500 pennies.

As the festivities in Mrs. Nigrelli's honor drew to a close on Wednesday, she was presented a generous purse and as he shook her hand, her supervisor remarked, "Marie, any time you want to come back, just give me a call."

Miceli says money for construction projects on the way

State Representative James R. Miceli (D-Tewksbury/Wilmington) recently announced that monies from the 1994 Transportation Bond Bill will go to both Tewksbury and Wilmington for various projects.

"There are so many areas that need attention," Miceli recently commented. "I am glad the Legislature was able to allocate funds for local projects."

The House of Representatives appropriated $2.5 million for the resurfacing of the section of Route 93 which goes through Andover, Tewksbury and Wilmington. Construction has already begun on this stretch of highway, and this action by the Legislature will ensure its successful completion.

Other local projects in the Transportation Bond Bill include $1.2 million for the replacement of the Route 62 bridge in Wilmington, $2.9 million for the rehabilitation of the West Street bridge in Wilmington, and $90,000 for traffic signals and the revamping of the intersection at Route 38 and Grove Street in Wilmington.

This legislation has passed the House and is currently awaiting action in the Senate.

"As always, I am constantly looking out for the interests of the communities in my district," Miceli said. "I am very pleased to be able to bring this much needed funding to our area."

Auto Sense

by Jim Boudreau

SENSING PROBLEMS

In today's high tech automobile, the failure of an engine sensor can lead to rough running. A case in point involves the oxygen sensor that measures the amount of oxygen in the exhaust gases. Mounted on the exhaust manifold, the oxygen sensor uses this measurement to set the proper fuel/air mixture. The use of contaminated fuel or an overly rich fuel mixture can cause an oxygen sensor to foul, thereby blocking the electric current that it needs to function. As a result, a car with a fouled oxygen sensor might display hesitation, poor fuel economy, and black exhaust smoke. Once the problem of the fouled oxygen sensor is found, the auto technician will likely further investigate the factors that caused it to foul.

If you see the signs of a faulty oxygen sensor, don't hesitate to have your car diagnosed by the knowledgeable team of technicians at BOUDREAU'S AUTOMOTIVE SERVICE CENTER. After 22 years meeting the repair needs of our customers in the Tewksbury area, we've found that our customers are our best advertisement. Trust us to use state-of-the-art computerized diagnostic equipment to make sure the job is done right and on time. Stop by and see us at 2184 Main St., Rt. 38. Phone 658-2120. We're open Mon-Fri 7-5; Sat 8-3. Happy July 4!

JIM BOUDREAU'S AUTOMOTIVE SERVICE CENTER

HINT: A Fouled oxygen sensor may be caused by a weak ignition spark or gas in the engine oil.

Coming home

Come friends, a thought to you I'll tell.

It's about Prince Edward Island, A place that I love well.

I was only in my teens when I left my Island home.

I had a due for rambling to a far away city did roam.

While living in the city mid the hustle and bustle of life,

My thoughts often wandered back to home and the quiet of country life.

To the green hills and valleys that surround my Island home,

To the blue lake in the sunshine where along its banks I've roamed.

Where the grain fields gently blow in their golden solitude, and the meadow lark is singing in the trees of yonder wood.

Where the people are so friendly as they greet you on your way.

As you journey over the hillside all your cares just melt away.

It's years since I left the Island, my home, my friends galore.

Some day I hope to return and leave it not anymore.

Let me sleep in yonder churchyard with whom I share the name,

Let the red, red loam of my Island home cradle me in her arms again.

memory of Helen Kelly

Motion," offered by Winchester Hospital, is an ongoing support group for those who have quit or are trying to quit smoking. For many, smoking is a way to ease stress, anxiety and frustration or limit a craving for food. Quitters in Motion addresses these emotions and helps participants find ways to replace smoking with more positive behaviors.

Quitters in Motion may be used in conjunction with the nicotine patch as a patch advantage program. The group will meet from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Wednesdays at Winchester Hospital Health Promotion Center and costs $7 at the door. Call 617-756-2220.

INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT PLAN

QUESTION: What is the latest update on the Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA's) for employees?

ANSWER: Under the new IRA rules, an employed person can now contribute up to $2,000 each year to a fund even if he or she is under a company retirement plan. This fund is not taxed until the person takes out the money starting at age 59 1/2. Furthermore, the amount a person puts in each year is tax-deductible from gross earnings.

The individual retirement plan was set up so that a person NOT covered by a qualified private or government plan could set up his own personal plan. That is no longer a factor. You can now have both.

A person can contribute annually into an IRA fund even if covered by a company retirement plan.

Small Cities grant extended four months

by Jeff Nazzaro

The Wilmington Small Cities Program received a slight reprieve from the Massachusetts Executive Office of Community Development (EOCD) in the form of a four-month extension on the town's fiscal year 1992 grant.

The extension will allow the small cities program to complete its housing rehabilitation, home buyer assistance and employment assistance programs, according to EOCD Division of Community Services Administrator Mary Greendale.

Wilmington was denied a grant renewal and subsequent appeal for FY 93 by EOCD. With the extension, the original June 30, 1994 termination date has been stretched to October 31 of this year.

Meanwhile, bolstered by the experience of a rejected 1993 application, the town is set to reapply for a FY 94 grant. In orchestrating Wilmington's appeal of its 1993 application, Town Manager Michael Caira, Planning/Conservation Director Lynn Duncan and Small Cities Program Director Glenn Garber spent hours reviewing Wilmington's application as well as accepted applications from other communities.

The town will hold a public hearing July 18 in Room 9 of the Town Hall for the purpose of gathering public input into possible projects for the Wilmington's FY 94 grant application.

EOCD's Massachusetts Small Cities Program (MSCP) grants funds on a competitive basis to towns for the following purposes: housing rehabilitation, home ownership, economic development and commercial revitalization, infrastructure, public facility improvements, public / social services and related planning activities.

Town officials have already forged a list of possible small cities grant projects. Among these are: the continuation of the housing rehabilitation in the Silver Lake area; the creation of a community service/job development center; and the construction of the extension of Avon Street to enable development of single family affordable housing.

The hearing is open to all Wilmington residents, with written comments being accepted at the Town Hall prior to the hearing.

A few ramblings for the holiday weekend

First Inning

Well it's another year at the fun on the fourth. There are many events in which you can participate which will occur every night.

Horseshoes, Volleyball, 3 on 3 Basketball, the Hospital Bed Race and the Ladies two mile walk will be some of the fun events that will be happening starting on Wednesday night at Wilmington High School.

Third Inning

Due to the anticipation of rain, the Mens Qualifying Softball Tournament at the Towne Park was cancelled. It will be made up in the end of July.

The team that is representing Wilmington from this year's Modified Division is not an "All-Star" team. It is a represenmaybe they do deserve some credit. But not much.

Since, they are trying to get Soccer big in this country once again, why don't they make a couple of rule changes that would make it a little more interesting.

How about, shortening the field (say a few thousands yards) and that way they could eliminate a player or

Family celebrates history

by James Pote

For the first time in the history of Tae Kwon Do, a family of four has tested together to receive their black belt.

The Bochart family, of Tewksbury, were able to accomplish that first time feat at Kwon's Tae Kwon Do establishment in Tewksbury.

The family, Thomas (Father), Barbara (Mother) and their children (Betsy age 11) and Andrew (age 8) have been training at Kwon's for the past three years.

The family will receive their belts at the end of July.

Another of Kwon's products Michael Rocco, age 9 will be traveling to Chicago on the weekend of July 14th to take part in the United States junior Olympic Tae Kwon Do Championships.

Don't forget the Dunk Tank. As always it should be a lot of fun.

Second Inning

Don't forget to sign up at the Wilmington K of C for the second annual wiffle ball tournament.

Last year was an instant success in their first try. This year the event will take place on Saturday July 9th at the K of C.

The winners of the tournament get to walk away with a very large sum of money (if you sign up you will find out how much). The cost for the four man team is $60. See either Gerry O'Reilly or Jerry Lawrence-son, or go to the K of C before it's too late.

tative team from the new league.

Fourth Inning

As I predicted a while ago in this same column, it looks as if the Celtics will take another "gem" in this year's NBA draft.

Hopefully, M.L. Carr is not taking lessons from Dave Gavitt of how to pick stiffs for his team. Please don't follow in his footsteps, don't take Eric Montross.

There is many other directions they can go. Trade up? Trade down? Do something, anything but that.

When Wilmington was "Hop Town"

by Capt. Larz Neilson
Hops are as natural to Wilmington as are, for instance, cranberries.
Both types of plants can be traced back locally to about the days of the American Revolution. From both types of plants the early farmers made a part of their living.

Marion Amber, a Wilmington lady would like to see some hops.
This writer named a site where they formerly grew, but none were there. Other sites have been named by persons who want to brew their own beer this fall. The writer is unable to name those sites.

The early Colonials brought hops to the British Colonies, and undoubtedly German settlers in Pennsylvania did the same thing to their homes. There are more than "just a few" types of hops, in these United States.

Hops are vines, which have flowers. After the flowers have fully developed they are picked and dried, after which they are aired over a fire. At least this writer has been so told. He never indulged in the sport.

William Blanchard lived, in Colonial days on Federal Street, near Middlesex Avenue. He became a sergeant in the Wilmington Company of Minutemen and marched on Concord Day.

Did the Wilmington Minutemen stop to have a beer before they marched? William Blanchard grew hops.

Later he was a Lieutenant, in the company of Capt. John Harnden, and still later he became the Colonel in command of the Fourth Middlesex Regiment.

His son, William Blanchard Jr.
also became a Colonel, and lived in the home now the home of Dave Gagnon, between Glen Road and the Congregational Church on Middlesex Avenue.

William Blanchard Jr. was an attorney, and was paid $2,000 a year by the Commonwealth to oversee hop culture, etc.

Hops were grown in Wilmington, Tewksbury, Burlington and Andover. A hop kiln, used to "roast" hops still exists in Andover, near the shores of Foster's Pond.

The Middlesex Canal can be named as promoting the sale of hops. There was a brewery in Albany, New York which specialized in Wilmington hops.
The hops were bagged and shipped by canal barge to Boston, where they were loaded on coastwise vessels to go to Albany.

From 1806 to 1837, 76,806 bags of hops were sent from Wilmington to Albany. Those bags were large.
Some of today's autos could be packed in such a bag. The total value of the hops shipped in that trade was $2,169,430. In those days someone earning a dollar a day considered himself well paid.

Careful records were kept, both on the number of bags shipped, and the quality. But, during the War of 1812 it was impossible to ship by water. That was the point where Asa Sheldon, then a young man, began to ship hops overland. He tells about, in part, in his book
"Wilmington Farmer." There are three copies in Wilmington Memorial Library.

Asa got his pay in New York currency, and he tells tales of the exchange rates. One time he was paid in gold, and he stuffed the gold pieces in the ear of one of the oxen which were hauling the wagon back to Wilmington.

Asa was a careful man!

The stonewalls in Wilmington are often a clue as to where hops were

The Colonel William Blanchard, Jr. lived in this house on the corner of Glen Road when he was a hop inspector.

The Benjamin Buck house on Wildwood Street is now the oldest standing house in town.

Last year local Realtor, Bill Wolfe held an open house as the home was for sale. He took the opportunity to point out Benjamin Buck's secret hiding place, after personally searching it thoroughly. He was too late, of course, because every school boy in town who knew the occupants had searched it for the past fifteen decades.

grown. When ever a person is going through woods, in upland, and he comes to a stone wall, that is a good indication of hop farming. There are, for instance, stone walls on both sides of High Street. The Harnden families must have grown a lot of hops. One can find more stone walls between Andover and Ballardvale Streets, and near the Harnden Tavern. The Gowing
Farm, on Park Street, where today the Andersens live had a lot of stone walls.

One can find stone walls where the Butters family lived off Butters Row and Chestnut Street. There was a kiln, back in the 1800s, in the rear of the "William Butters" home on Chestnut Street.

The Benjamin Buck House, on Wildwood Street, possibly provides the best stories. It is the oldest house in Wilmington, and the Buck family had a lot of "upland."

Nathan Buck was the owner in the years after the American Revolution. He was the son of Ephraim, the man who killed the last bear in Wilmington, back in August 1670.

There were six children in the family of Nathan and Elizabeth (Betty) Thompson Buck. Benjamin and Jonathan are probably the "principals" in the story of the Buck family and beer.

Benjamin, who lived in the old Buck House had a secret hiding place for money, near the back door. An old chestnut beam had an addition to it which could not be detected by a casual glance, and there, for a half century or more Benjamin hid his money.

When the Town of Wilmington needed to borrow money someone went to Benjamin Buck, and, without revealing his source, he produced it. This happened more than once, according to town records.

The third floor of the Benjamin Buck House was where the hops were dried. It seems to have been the only indoor drying place. After the hops were dried they were packed in bags, and dropped down a chute, beside one of the chimneys.

Then they were taken to the canal and shipped to Charlestown.

When the Congregational Church steeple blew down, in 1876 it was Benjamin who paid $5,000 for the new steeple. He just went to his hiding place, after being certain that no one was watching, and produced the money.

Jonathan, his brother, spent his money for a new home, next door.
Today it is the home of Dr. Shirley Callan, and it is almost a mansion. It was known as the Darius Buck house for many years. Darius was the son of Jonathan and Betsy.

There is no record known of their marriage. Betsy was evidently not a Wilmington girl.

Hop cultivation, in Wilmington, stopped in 1837. Eighteen thirty-seven was the second year of the Hop Blight, a disease from which the local plants, at that time, never recovered.

*Note from Bill Conlon: Yes, hops still grow in Wilmington, but I will not reveal the location. My secret.
Homebrewers (and I'm one) love to use fresh hops for making beer, and Wilmington Colonial is among the best wild hops I've found so far, out of nine locations where hops grows in this area. As of this writing, I am trying to locate a service that will determine the strain and alpha acid (bitting quality) of the local hops.
It may be a unique, unknown strain!*

Tech places 92% of Class of '94

Ninety two percent of the June 9 graduates of Shawsheen Tech - all but 14 of the 190 members of the Class of 1994, were working full time, enrolled in college programs, or joining the military notes
Kenneth Faulkner, placement counselor.

Seventy-eight percent

"The job market has improved over the last year," says Faulkner.
"Placement in jobs in the field for which a student was trained is up about 10 percent, to 66 percent of all graduates." An additional 12, or six percent are working in other areas; 34, or 18 percent are furthering their education; five or two percent have chosen military service. Fourteen are "in process," says Faulkner, either interviewing for jobs or seeking employment.

The percentage of students going to college will jump to 30 percent in the fall, since some students are working during the summer.
Colleges Shawsheen grads will attend this fall include Northeastern University, Salem State College, Endicott College, UMass, Lowell
and Dartmouth campuses, Mass.
College of Art, Middlesex Community College, Wentworth Institute, Johnson & Wales College,
Northern Essex Community College, Newbury College,
Franklin Institute, Massasoit
College, New Hampshire Technical Institute, Bay State Community College, and the Art Institute of Pittsburgh.

Faulkner said students were hired for full time jobs by a wide variety of employers, many of whom "tried out" the students during the Cooperative Education Program that allows eligible seniors to work alternate weeks for pay in the field for which they were trained. How many co-op jobs become full time employment offers? "About 98 percent," replies Faulkner.
Ninety-four students worked at about 80 companies through the co-op agreements in 1993-94.

Ah, yes!

a 1943 Studebaker firetruck

By JAMES GOLDSMITH

Thousands of Middlesex County residents waved and shouted hello to Merle and Helen Weaver as they passed by in their antique fire engines at Reading's 350th centennial parade.

Auxiliary Engine #8, formerly owned by the Reading Fire Department, is a fully rebuilt and restored twin coach fire engine which will be towed by Weaver's workhorse "My Baby," his spotless, shiny 1943 Studebaker combination pumper.

There's a lot of old fashioned pride, craftsmanship and independence in both Merle Weaver and the three antique fire engines and hose wagon he has restored.

The 60-year-old man with silver hair combed straight back was born in Elkhart, Iowa where his parents were hard working farmers trying to eke out a living growing corn, potatoes or oats — whatever brought the highest price. However, Merle, a restless 15-year-old, didn't cotton to the long hours and hard work. He jumped at the chance to come east to visit his sister, June Richardson, in 1950.

The cocky teenager had one stock-in-trade which has stood him in good stead all his life; he loves to tinker with, repair, and build engines. He also has a strong independent streak that quickly surfaces when he talks about tools, woodworking, mechanics and restoring old fire apparatus.

After arriving in North Reading the feisty youngster heard that Porter Chevrolet in Reading was looking for a mechanic. Filled with hope, anticipation and probably fear, young Weaver strode into the automobile agency and was told by Lawrence Reed, service manager, "There's three ways to do this job: the right way, the wrong way, and my way." Weaver says, "I told him to do it his way, packed up my tools and quit."

The trim, neat man in jeans with matching blue denim vest and western leather boots looks like he jumped stepped out of a Marlboro ad. Instead of roping long horn cattle, he raced dragsters and micro-midgets as a young man and built stock cars from the ground up and then jumped into the cockpit.

It seems the likeable North Reading resident was destined to give birth to engines and nurse them back to health on life's fast track. In 1954 he was one of several mechanics on an engine assembly line. He had the pleasure and satisfaction of seeing his craftsmanship result in a first place finish for a converted Pratt & Whitney aircraft engine in Daytona Beach, Florida.

After three heart attacks and open heart surgery the pleasant and talented man was told by his doctor that if he wanted to live he must change gears, relax and eliminate stress. Weaver's "miracle drug" didn't come in a bottle and wasn't prescribed by his doctor. It was found in the fall of 1989 off Bolster Mill Road, Otisfield, Maine in a junk yard. The 5'9" man says, "Restoring it was better therapy than the surgery. That's why I'm alive today."

Finding the rusting, deteriorating remains of a 1943 Studebaker weapons carrier was the easy part; convincing the fire department they should sell the wreck took some serious back woods negotiation. Each time Weaver thought he had closed the sale the obstinate fire chief dug in his heels and threw up another hurdle for this guy "from away." "Aya, she'd make a real good rig to pump out catch basins or I have thought of turning it into a wrecker or it's make a right good snowplow."

The Mainer knew he wouldn't use this discarded fire truck again, and Weaver's interest was as clear as the Maine air. A stalemate - point-counterpoint. Weaver knew this bloke wasn't going to take a nickel less than the $1,000 asking price. He wondered, "Will I have to drive off in my 1980 Cadillac, spend the night at the cabin and return home empty handed?"

Today Weaver is smiling, not negotiating. The 1943 Studebaker weapons carrier was one of 900 trucks made between 1941 and 1945.

Weaver says, "It was delivered to Pease Air Force Base (Newington, New Hampshire) in 1945. The combination pumper served as the base crash fire truck from 1945 to 1948. The Town of Otisfield bought it in 1949 and made it into a forestry truck and first line piece for fighting forest fires and back woods house/cabin fires. The truck is so amazing. In 1981 the 3/4 ton forestry truck (Engine #8) went up a mountain in Otisfield with three feet of snow on the ground and 300 gallons of water weighing three tons."

"Lock in a mortgage rate while you shop."

The typical house-hunt goes like this:
You find the house of your dreams. Sign the deal. Then you secure a mortgage—hoping that rates don't edge up and that you qualify for a big enough loan.
At Cambridge Savings Bank, our "Rate Lock While You Shop" is a better way to house-hunt.

Lock in a rate.
Before you shop for a house, talk to us and we'll lock in your rate for 30 days. If rates go up, you're protected. If rates go down, you get the lower rate. Once you submit your application, your rate is then locked in through closing.

Pre-qualify for a mortgage.
Talk with us before you settle on a house and we'll let you know how much you can borrow. That means you'll have better negotiating power when looking for a home.
These features come with any of our competitively-priced ARMs. Including our No Points/No Closing Costs* loans, and First Time Home Buyer loans at new, lowered rates.

AFTER YEARS of working with physicians, Dr. Francis Callahan, a retired anesthesiologist from New England Memorial Hospital, says demonstrated competency is most important in selecting a doctor.

Cataract Eye Surgery

How do you find a qualified eye physician?

Determine whether he or she is board-eligible or board certified and a member of the specialty societies.

That advice is from Edward Annis, M.D., past president of the American Medical Association and a member of the board of American College of Eye Surgeons.

Writing in Synergism, a publication of the American College of Eye Surgeons, he says, "The telephone book is helpful in providing an address and phone number, but it is not the best place to search for a doctor." He points out, "It is not illegal for physicians to practice in any specialty they choose, with or without training in that field."

Dr. Annis says that to become certified by the American Board of Eye Surgery, one of the specialty societies he refers to, eye physicians "must provide their credentials, agree to be examined and observed by their peers to demonstrate their judgement and technical skills."

He says other attributes of good physicians are that they "listen and talk with their patients. They explain what the problem is, what, in their opinion is needed and why. They also explain a patient's options when different approaches may be made in handling especially difficult problems."

According to Francis

Callahan, M.D., formerly chief of anesthesiology at New England Memorial Hospital, who needed an eye surgeon to treat his cataracts, competency is most critical.

Competency, for Dr. Callahan, includes being up to date in the latest procedures.

"Of the many excellent ophthalmologists I knew, Dr. Horsley was the only one I knew of who did this particular technique for cataracts," says Dr. Callahan. "It's called Instant Vision. There's no bleeding and no stitch is needed."

He says that as a doctor he knew Dr. Horsley for years, and worked with him in the operating room. "So getting to know a doctor before you need a doctor is a good idea," he advises.

"I suspected I had cataracts," says John Fagan, M.D., a retired general surgeon who lives in Belmont. "I had heard that Dr. Callahan was so enthusiastic about the results of his cataract treatment, I called him about it, then I called the Horsley Eye Clinic at New England Memorial Hospital. I was so satisfied with my improved vision, I sent three other people to him. One even came up from Florida."

Dr. Horsley, who is board certified in both ophthalmology and cataract surgery, says patients should be as well informed about a doctor and their problem as possible.

Bagel votes rolling in

By PHYLLIS NISSEN

Did you vote yet? That entry form will do you no good if it's still in a pile waiting to be filled out. With the stroke of a pen, you could win $100 or $50 or $50. A sneak peak at the votes received during the first five days of the contest reveals that 17 types of bagels and 18 area bagel spots are among our readers' favorites - this is an equal opportunity election. We still appreciate all your comments, especially those from comedians, cartoonists, artists, and the newest category: philosophers. These are the rules: vote for both your favorite flavor bagel and bagel spot, preferably in the greater Middlesex East area. Eligibility for the three prizes goes like this: If your favorite bagel is among those picked by a majority of readers, your entry will be thrown into a bag with similar entries, and if it is drawn from that bag, you win the "you must have great taste" award of $50. Same for your favorite bagel place, giving you another chance at a $50 award, this time the "you must have great taste in space" slot. All categories are determined by reader opinion and the luck of the draw. If you choose everyone's favorite bagel at everyone's favorite bagel spot, you win a chance at the grand "greatest taste of all" unprecedented $100 award (only one prize per person). Send your official ballot to Bagel Contest, Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867.

The day of reckoning is almost here. All entries must be on the original forms from past or present Supplements, and are due by July 8th. If you win the grand prize, the plain truth is you could be rolling in dough - and maybe, if you're lucky, in bagels. Vote now - and remember, real people are reading your entries, so please, be creative.

Studebaker From S-1

How does Weaver's pride and joy look today compared to the first time he spotted it rusting forlorn and forgotten? Merle smiles, pauses, and says, "They (the Otisfield volunteer firefighters) painted it by brush with red barn paint. It was in some tough shape - rotted hose and wood - the paint peeled off in your hands. There was a mouse nest in the passenger's seat and a squirrel's nest on top of the muffler." Guess what happened on the long drive home to North Reading from Otisfield? As he was approaching the Kittery, Maine toll booth on I-95 Weaver thought he smelled smoke and pulled off the highway. Sure enough, the squirrel's house was burning out of control. The fast thinking fire buff grabbed a can of beer, shook it, and doused the fire.

Home at last Weaver was ecstatic - the miracle drug was beginning to work and this 60-year-old became a kid dreaming of Christmas and a new toy. However, the North Reading Police Department saw it as a modern version of the Wreck of the Hesperus. When the boys in blue looked across the driveway into the Weaver's backyard they probably shook their heads and said, "What's Merle got in his yard now?" Weaver, with a Cheshire cat smile, says, "The North Reading Police bet the fire department I would never finish it (the restoration)."

The man with the mustache and lingering midwest accent says, "My truck is probably in 75 percent better condition now than they (Otisfield Fire Department) ever had it." His pride and joy shines from bumper to bumper with chrome plated spotlights and brass fire-fighting fittings you can see your face in.

Judges at fire muster competitions through out New England marvel at the "little fire engine that could" salvaged from a junk yard. "My baby has won 10 trophies," the proud winner says, "and all but three trophies were first place for best appearance."

While the man who loves country western music and dances had a ball restoring Engine #8, he says with a gleam in his eyes, "The greatest pleasure of the whole thing is to get my wife in the truck with me." Weaver is thrilled when Helen (Eisenhaur) Weaver sits beside him during the Memorial Day parade in North Reading. He says, "The day she can't get into the truck will be the time I sell it." Antique fire apparatus and restoring them isn't this versatile man's only hobby. For the last eight years he has been a familiar figure as a school crossing guard at the intersection of Bow Street across from Flint Memorial Library in North Reading. Sometimes a rude, reckless or impatient driver ignores Weaver or doesn't think school crossing guards have any authority. Wrong! The spirited guard has been known to get in their face and let them know when they have broken the law. Son Jay Weaver says, "He's kind of a tough old coot." However, dad has a kinder, gentler side too and loves to give school children a smile and piece of candy. The public spirited citizen believes in being prepared, a carryover from his Boy Scout days. Weaver was a Boy Scout master in North Reading Troops 740 and 750. He says with noticeable pride, "I'm an Eagle Scout and there aren't too many of them." Kevin Paicos, a former North Reading selectman and a Green Beret during the Vietnam War, came home and told Weaver, "The survival training I got in the Boy Scouts was better than I received in the military." Weaver glowed in the warmth of the compliment for days and has never forgotten it.

Returning to antique fire engines, Weaver says, "There's nothing on the truck (1943 Studebaker) that doesn't work. The truck is 100 percent original. Ninety percent of the 900 weapons carriers that went overseas in WWII never came back. Only 77 (of the 900) were converted into fire engines. Mine is one of three left in the United States." The spry man climbs into the cab, pulls out the hand choke, flips a switch and hits the starter button. The 110 hp engine turns over immediately and purrs like a kitten. Weaver smiles and says, "My truck is 50 years old - I know people 50 years old who don't work that well."

Does this 60-year-old antique fire buff have a dream? The mechanical wizard says, "I'd love to be in the right place at the right time and fight a fire with it." (Not a squirrel's nest fire, thank you.)

Boston's Best Chowderfest '94

Boston area restaurants will be competing for the high acclaim of having Boston's best clam chowder at the Thirteenth Annual Chowderfest on Sunday, July 3. Sponsored by Boston Harborfest, the event will take place from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. at City Hall Plaza. Chowderfest gives visitors a chance to display democracy in its truest form by voting for the best available clam chowder in Boston.

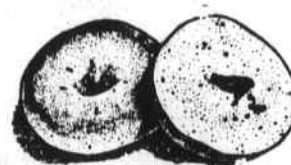

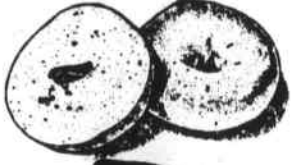

Although each chowder begins with the basic ingredients - fresh clams, potatoes and milk, each chef adds their favorite personal touch and creates a unique flavor. The chefs can be spoken to, but finding out their secret ingredients may be another story. Admission to Chowderfest '94 is $6 for adults and $4 for children, and allows the visitor to sample an endless supply of various blends and concoctions. Chowderfest is one of the over 130 events taking place at Boston Harborfest '94, from June 29 to July 4. For more information contact Boston Harborfest at (617) 227-1528 or fax (617) 227-1886.

AISE provides families with complete background information about each student, and allows the families to choose the student whom they would like to host. Students have their own health insurance and spending money, and host families provide students with room and board, and most importantly, insight into typical American life.

The 1994-95 school year promises to be AISE's best year yet. With more than 3,000 students from over 30 countries arriving in August, AISE is actively seeking families who are willing to host an exchange

About The Towns

by Phyllis Nissen

Looking for the perfect family vacation spot?

And weather-proof, too!

Word is that the Mall of America in Minnesota is an ideal honeymoon, if not vacation, spot - what with mass weddings and something for everyone.

But, says one local mall manager, there's something you have to understand.

"Have you ever spent any time in the Midwest?" she asks.

"If you've lived out there, you know that there are hardly any malls, and people live several hours from a quart of milk."

"A lot of the traffic at the Mall of America is people from the surrounding states. They spend a weekend. The hotels are very reasonable there, and there's a lot of other things to do," she continues. "They have a hockey team and a sports team and if you go there for a weekend, you can also go gambling - so people go for a weekend or a few women say, 'Let's go' and they drive six or eight hours or fly because they can now shop where they can't normally shop at home."

"But most of the stores are similar to stores all over the country. We go out there from here and look at this and go, 'Who cares?' But it's different if you live out there. I lived in Ohio for a couple of years and in Tennessee and it's very different. They've built up a lot since then."

"We forget there are people who live fairly large distances apart. We're spoiled by a state that's so small you can drive across it in two hours and be in three other states, and there are malls because we're densely populated."

"Once you get out of the major cities in the midwest it's very different - and an amusement park at a mall is something to see. It's a kiddie park. It was fun to see."

"Actually," she continues, "we had a corporate meeting out there - because it's certainly not the type of thing I would go on vacation to see. It was very exciting to see it. It's huge. They have a bus terminal and you'd think you were in South Station."

"The 'back of the house' space - for somebody in the business - is kind of interesting, and we did get to see a lot of that. But when we walked around and looked at the store list, I don't think there were five stores there that aren't everywhere."

"They really didn't go after local tenants, maybe because of where they were. A couple of unusual stores were entrepreneurial. Actually, one of the most fun stores there was a store - I think it's called Bare Bones - and it was everything from the doctor's skeleton to dinosaur kids, a lot of fun stuff. It was the busiest store in the mall and everyone had to go see it because it's a one of a kind store."

This has been a moment with a local mall manager, in the continuing series, "It's a mall world."

Looking for something to do on the way to the mall?

Well, you could interpret the following "headline of the week" in a paper almost too close to home: "16 year old flips over mom's car."

We've heard three possible interpretations already, and it's still today.

After attending the graduation ceremonies where my sister Maureen O'Donnell's daughter, Diane, received her high school diploma, I took Kathy and my Aunt Nora out to dinner to an Italian restaurant in the Middlesex East area. (Folks, many of you know my Aunt Nora shows keen delight in finding mistakes in Woodchips. Well I had a chance to get even but I just smiled.) Well, Kathy and I ordered spaghetti and Aunt Nora, after looking over the menu, told the waiter, "I'll have the Spumoni Vermicelli, please." The waiter smiled and said, "Scuza Ma'am, but where do you see that on the menu?" She pointed and said, "Right here!" "Scuza again Ma'am," the waiter replied, "That's the name of the owner of this restaurant!"

Mario DiMino of Stoneham really believes that "Hertz Van Rental" was a Dutch painter... I didn't graduate in the top half of my high school class. I was one of those who made a top half possible... When I wanted to join the Navy in WWII Chief Navy recruiter Bill Burton said,

ANTHONY MANCONI

Whenever I see a nun, teacher or nurse, I instinctively think of "Dedication," "Devotion to Duty" and "Love of People." I agree that you and I may know someone in these categories who doesn't quite measure up to these standards. That should not diminish by one iota the respect and esteem we have for these wonderful people. We must bear in mind that "one" of the 12 Apostles didn't measure up either.

My neighbors Wally and Harold Hill are veterans of the U.S. Marine Corps. Harold was with the 1st Marines and Wally was with the 4th Marines. When they were at Camp LeJeune, a Marine sergeant barked out this order - "When I give the command 'Eyes Right!' I want to hear your eyeballs click!"

I love to read those humorous bumper stickers like "I owe, I owe, so off to work I go," "Watch my rear end, not hers," "Don't follow me, I'm lost too..."

Cannibal Chief to chef, "What's for dinner?" "Two old maids."

"Ugh! leftovers again." Parents are people who "bore" teenagers, "board" new-lweds, and "become" babysitters."... Behind almost every successful man there's a proud wife and a surprised mother-in-law... Kathy said, "It's not the 'minutes' at the dining room table but the 'seconds' that are responsible for diet failure."

Tony Stack from Dublin, Ireland said to me when President Clinton appointed Boston's Mayor Flynn to be Ambassador to the Vatican, "I think it was an excellent choice." Tony continued saying, "I shook Mr. Flynn's hand and my whole right side went sober."

Dennis Tully asked his grandfather "Were you on Noah's Ark when the flood came?" "Of course not, why the heck do you ask?" "Oh," Dennis replied, "I always wondered why you didn't get drowned. Folks, some rules border on the ridiculous like, Foreman to bricklayer, "Hey! What do you think you're doing?" "I'm sharpening my pencil." "Well, don't let anyone see you doing it - that's the carpenter's job..." When Diogenes visited Washington, D.C. he went away a very disappointed man. It seems that he was looking for an "honest man" and someone 'stole' his lamp... George Guyette said to Richie Hamel, "Was that you who was drowned last year, or was it your brother?"

Bike-A-Thon to benefit MDA

The Third Annual "Firefighter Cycling Classic," sponsored by Chelmsford Firefighters Local #1839, is just around the corner so contact the MDA office in Danvers at (508) 777-0333 to register.

The 25-mile bike trek is open to all cyclists across the state. The ride begins in the Purity-Chelmsford parking lot in Chelmsford at 10 a.m. (9 a.m. registration). The route will run through Chelmsford, Lowell, Tyngsboro and Billerica.

Join hundreds of firefighters, families, friends and people who just love to cycle as they enjoy the warm weather, win great prizes and pedal out dystrophy. Prizes include t-shirts, sports bags and more. The top fundraiser will even win a mountain bike, courtesy of Bill & Andy's Cycle Center.

Last year's ride was a complete success, raising nearly $9,000 to fight muscle disease. More than 80 cyclists participated including firefighters, friends and families.

Funds raised from the Firefighter Cycling Classic will enable MDA to continue supporting Boston area clinics where people with any of the 40 disorders covered by the MDA programs receive medical care and related services.

MDA also sends local young sters ages 6-21 to Camp Florian in Canton for a week of summer camp, while sponsoring research centers in Boston which are dedicated to finding treatments and cures for devastating muscle diseases.

Do you know if you or someone you know is in an abusive or violent relationship?
Abuse and battering can take on many forms.

Does your partner or husband call you names, blame you, swear at you, humiliate you, intimidate you, twist your words, not listen, put you down in front of friends or family, lie to you, cheat on you, is jealous or possessive, refuse to help with the housework or child care, insist on always being right, not respect you, interfere with your work, prevent you from working, take your paycheck, refuse to give you money, abuse alcohol or other substances, threaten suicide, prevent you from calling or visiting friends or family, follow you, or check up on you? If you answered yes to any of these behaviors, you are a victim of verbal, emotional, mental and/or economic abuse.

Does your partner or husband make threatening gestures, drive recklessly with you in the car, keep you from leaving by blocking a doorway, punch walls, break things, harm your pets, threaten you, use force, threats or coercion to obtain sex, not listen to "no", slap you, punch you, kick you, push you (or your children), use or threaten to use weapons, burn you, choke you, keep weapons to frighten you, threaten or attempt to kill you or those you love? Are you frightened of your partner or husband's anger? If you answered yes to any of these behaviors, you are a victim of battering.

MOVIES

Wyatt Earp

Wyatt Earp starring Kevin Costner, Dennis Quaid, Gene Hackman, Jeff Fahey, Mark Harmon, Michael Madsen, Catherine O'Hara, Bill Pullman, Isabella Rossellini, Tom Sizemore, JoBeth Williams, Marc Wainwright, Joanna Going. Directed by Lawrence Kasdan. Written by Dan Gordon, Kasdan. Produced by Jim Wilson, Costner, Kasdan. Rated PG-13.

DOC HOLLIDAY (Dennis Quaid, right) covers for Wyatt (Kevin Costner) in Warner Bros.' epic of the American West "Wyatt Earp."

Wyatt Earp, the renegade lawman who tried to tame Tombstone, was a multi-faceted, if flawed character. And this three-hour-and-10-minute epic biopic is just the flawed vehicle for his story.

There are so many pluses to this film that the length and slow pace are nearly enough to make you scream with frustration. Director Lawrence Kasdan can claim credit for the bronzed vistas and incredible detail in both set design and costumes. He also elicits textured performances from his actors. You never doubt that the Earp brothers, or their wives, were complicated people. Unfortunately, Kasdan hadn't the heart to cut scenes that may please the eye, but are slow enough to numb the brain.

It begins when Wyatt is a teenager and follows him through a personal tragedy in an early marriage that changes his perspective on life. Kevin Costner's interpretation of the youthful Wyatt is a bit too heavy with golly gee naivete, but his performance is amazingly rich with nuance as the film drags on. Moral, rigid, troubled and fiercely loyal to his family, this lawman is no mythic figure.

Costner does not stand alone. Dennis Quaid is highly memorable as the charismatic, consumptive Doc Holiday. A dandy who could cut you with his knives or his verbal dexterity, Quaid nearly steals every scene he's in. The actor even lost 40 pounds to look convincingly frail.

The Earp wives and women provide an unusual and extremely interesting facet to the film, as most overlook the ladies who helped settle the West. Strong-willed women who were ignored and angry, they knew they could never pierce the tight circle formed by the Earp brothers and their leader, Wyatt.

Though Kasdan wove a tale that is sometimes remarkably revealing, its very scope magnified its problems. For one thing, everyone looks too old for their parts. Costner is supposedly in his thirties when he involves his brothers in the showdown at the O.K. Corral. Forty is a better guess.

Bill Pullman's Ed Masterson is only supposed to be in his mid-twenties, but looks at least a decade too old. And for all the detail lavished on the Earp clan and their unhappy wives, the cowboy/ranchers embroiled in the gunplay at Tombstone are given short shrift. In reality, this was more than just an extended barroom brawl.

You can't ignore these problems but neither can you overlook the magnificent production values and the emotional range exhibited in this film. "Wyatt Earp" is a visually pleasing, thought-provoking Western that is just too long to sit through.
